Exposition Notes

Governor George W. Hays of Arkansas and the Arkansas commission to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, numbering thirty persons, recently dedicated the site of the Arkansas building upon the Exposition grounds.

A suffragette, 90 feet tall and with a name of equal proportions, stands at the center of "The Zone" of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The lady's name is Miss Panama Parkline Imogene Equalrights and she is clad in the latest style. More than 500 yards of cloth are required for the style. She carries a drum and a flag labeled "Votes for Women."

Col. and Mrs. Ringe Entertain Friends

"Missouri Place," the pretty orchard home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ringe, was the scene of a most delightfully appointed party Tuesday afternoon and the guests were "shown" hospitality only as the real Missourians can show it.

The honored guests were the Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a few of the B. L. E. boys, from Oakland, San Francisco, Alameda, San Jose and Campbell.

The luncheon served under the spreading walnut tree included peaches, apricots, apples, silver and French prunes, all raised on Mr. Ringe's ranch. Later the guests were laden with all these fresh fruits and departed for their homes rejoicing.

Among those present were: San Francisco—Mrs. L. B. Sadler, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kanold, Mrs. L. D. Armstrong, Mrs. C. V. Thompson, Mrs. E. Minner, Mrs. W. S. Corbin, Mrs. F. S. Bowley, Mrs. C. Hayman, Mrs. W. C. Airey, Mrs. Etta G. Dixon.

Oakland—Mrs. M. Maguire, Mrs. L. Thomas, Mrs. W. A. Belden, Mrs. H. S. Gardner, Mrs. J. M. Abbey.

San Jose—Mrs. W. G. Lovejoy, Miss Bernice Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lang, Mrs. D. B. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tenney.

U. S. Neutrality Is Proclaimed By Wilson

President Wilson Tuesday issued a proclamation of neutrality of the United States in the European war. The proclamation follows: "BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES—A PROCLAMATION:

"Whereas, a state of war, unhappily, exists between Austria-Hungary and Serbia and between Germany and Russia and between Germany and France; and whereas, the United States is on terms of friendship and amity with the contending powers and with the persons inhabiting their several dominions:

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States and of its citizens and of persons within its territory and jurisdiction, and to enforce its laws and treaties, and in order that all persons, being warned of the general tenor of the laws and treaties of the United States in this behalf and of the law of nations, may thus be prevented from any violation of the same, do hereby declare and proclaim that by certain provisions of the act approved on the 4th day of March, A. D., 1909, commonly known as the penal code of the United States, the following acts are forbidden to be done, under severe penalties, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States:

The prohibited acts then enumerated by the proclamation include:

Accepting and entering commission to serve any of the belligerent, enlisting or entering the service of any belligerents or hiring other persons to take such action; fitting out ships or increasing the force of any ship of war of the belligerents; aiding any military expedition from the territory of the United States against the territories of the belligerents.

The War To Date

Since 1453 the Mohammedan Turks have controlled Southeastern Europe and ruled the Christian population. Russia has been the active champion of these oppressed Christians since the time of Peter the Great, in the seventeenth century.

In the war of 1876-78, Russia's armies won their way to the gates of Constantinople, at which juncture the powers of Europe intervened. During this war the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina rebelled against the Turks and Austria intervened in the interests of order. When the Congress of Berlin met in 1878 Austria was in possession of these provinces, and was given them to hold in trust for the powers. At the same time the Balkan states were organized.

In 1908 Austria broke the Treaty of Berlin and annexed the two provinces. Serbia, ready to rush to war, was pacified by the powers. Russia was unable to help at that time.

THE ASSASSINATION.

On June 28 of this year the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the throne, was assassinated in Bosnia by Gavrilo Princip and Nedjeljo Gabrinovic, two mere boys. Austria immediately demanded of Serbia certain acts of reparation.

On Monday, July 27, Serbia replied, unexpectedly acceding to all demands save one, of which she asked further explanation.

On Thursday, July 30, Germany moved to the center of the stage by demanding that Russia explain her movements. On Friday at midnight Germany addressed an ultimatum to Russia, demanding that mobilization cease. When the time limit set by Germany, expired at noon Saturday, August 1, there was a dramatic scene when the German ambassador received Russia's refusal to reply and withdrew after formally declaring war.

NEUTRALITY BROKEN.

England and France did their utmost for peace up to Saturday. On that day, August 1, German troops invaded neutral Luxembourg. France mobilized, England made military and naval preparations, and Russian troops engaged in skirmishes near the German border.

Sunday, August 2, two bodies of Russian troops invaded Germany, at Schwinden and Eichenreid. Two German armies entered France, against which war had not been declared, and one was reported repulsed with losses by a French army. The German plan is believed to be to strike at France before Russia can fully mobilize.

British cruisers on Sunday began practically to blockade the Baltic. Great Britain has guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium.

German troops invaded Holland on Monday, August 4, and also entered Russia, where skirmishing took place.

Great Britain, in answer to a question from Germany, replied that she would not permit a German fleet to attack French shipping in the north or the unprotected northern coast of France.

ENGLAND DECLARES WAR.

On Tuesday, August 4, Great Britain declared war against Germany, following an exchange of notes regarding Belgian neutrality. Germany's claim that she was invading Belgium in self defense against France was regarded as unsatisfactory.

Germany's invading armies made little progress in either France or Belgium, meeting with stubborn resistance.

In a naval battle off the coast of Algiers, confirmed today, the French fleet captured the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, and sunk the German cruiser Panther.

President Wilson issued a proclamation of neutrality for the United States, and offering his good offices for mediation.

Germany's war appropriation is $1,250,000,000; England's is $525,000,000, and Belgium's $40,000,000.

Buying Time by the Can

"Time and tide wait for no man." Time is waiting, however, right here on the store shelves, waiting for you to buy! To illustrate; it takes about fifteen minutes to shell enough fresh peas for a small family. The cooking requires thirty minutes, making a total of forty-five minutes. Del Monte Canned Peas are thoroughly cooked and five minutes on the stove will heat them. Forty minutes saved to you. These minutes are, in effect, sealed up in the can for your benefit along with peas. For 15c you buy nineteen ounces of peas and forty minutes of time—well worth the price. Del Monte Peas are good, so good that they are better than the average home cooked. Next week I am going to explain why this is so.

HANDY FOR ELECTROPLATING

Illustration Shows Simple Apparatus Which Can Be Made at Home—Keep Parts Clean.

The illustration shows a very simple electroplating apparatus which can be made at home. The piece to be plated (A) is connected to the negative pole of a battery, from the positive pole of which a conductor (G) carries the current to the anode (D.). The rubber bulb (F) is filled with the electrolyte bath, that is, the liquid containing the plating metal in solution, which can be squirted through the small tube (E) into the larger tube (C). The smaller tube passes through a cork in the end of the larger, which also serves to give support to the mouth of the bulb. The amount of the liquid pressed out must be sufficient to keep the sponge (B) moist. Care must be taken to clean carefully the parts to be plated before beginning.—Translated from L'Electicien by J. H. Blakey.

Effectiveness of Vacuum Apparatus Demonstrated on Hide of Mine Animal Attracts Crowd.

The electric service company at Noranton, Pa., recently attracted and held a large crowd of people in front of its offices by demonstrating the effectiveness of a vacuum cleaner on the coal-begrimed hide of a mine mule. The animal, having probably never experienced a similar sensation before, expressed its surprise when the vacuum cleaner was put in operation by delivering a far-sounding "hee-haw." The noise soon attracted a crowd, which watched the demonstration and probably carried the news to more quarters than any other form of advertising might have done.—Electrical World.

Plan to Recover Tiber's Treasures

FROM the River Tiber that Rome once worshipped to a bustling office in Church street, New York city, is a far cry, but the void between the two has been spanned.

Beneath those sluggish waters, which received the prayer of a "Citizen of Rome" and were braved by Goth and Gaul and Vandal, lie, according to archeologists, treasures such as the museums of the world do not boast; treasures of bronze and of marble and gold, carved or melted into wonder works of art; and, perhaps, that fabled Candelabrum of the Jews, of pure gold, of weight one talent and a half, and three feet high.

The cry is to recover those treasures. It was sent to James C. Stewart, a New York contractor, years ago, and though nothing has been accomplished since then he has not lost interest in the project, but is willing and eager to give what assistance he can, either technical or financial, to recover the lost treasures of an ancient day.

First Proposed Ten Years Ago.

It was nearly ten years ago that Mr. Stewart first heard of the project from Professor Ciro, the Italian archeologist. At that time Mr. Stewart was in England astonishing the engineering world by his feats and arousing the admiration of King Edward and the admiralty.

He was one of the first American pioneers to show England the efficiency of American methods. His fame spread; 'way off in Italy esthetic dreamers and practical promoters heard of him. And they wrote him of what lay beneath the Tiber and asked whether he could undertake the work, declaring that the Italian government was ready to grant concessions.

SCENE ALONG THE TIBER.

Mr. Stewart was busy and the affair languished. The treasures still remain where they were. But as the years have passed Mr. Stewart's interest—practical, artistic and sentimental—has increased, until he is ready to associate himself with any one ready to encourage the work or to aid any one who wants to undertake it.

Mr. Stewart looks like a typical keen and alert American business man. He is, but the lure of that treasure hunting is upon him and he admits it with a smile.

"It's entirely practicable, though," said he. "It would be the easiest sort of job. There would be no question of diverting the course of the Tiber, but merely one of dredging it, and that could be readily and quickly accomplished. We own the most powerful dredging machines in the world, and the Tiber's bed of soft silt would offer us very little difficulty. We would just scoop the bed of the river up and practically go placer mining for the treasures that I am ready to believe are there.

"I've never contemplated doing the job, because it's never really been a concern of mine. All I know is that several archeologists and promoters wrote me about it years ago, but the matter dropped there.

"I know, too, that the plan has been frequently proposed, but for some reason or other never executed. Why the Italian government doesn't take it in hand I don't understand; we would do it over here. It would not be particularly costly and the findings, I'm quite sure, would give us some of the most wonderful works of art as well as treasures to which an enormous sentimental interest would attach.

"If others do seriously mean to prosecute the work I am perfectly willing to associate myself with them, or just to give financial aid. It seems to me that there are enough art lovers in this country who would be willing to subscribe the comparatively small amount necessary to carry it out. Personally I don't know why it isn't done or when it will be done, but I am sure it will be sooner or later.

"I received my first intimation of the idea when I was over in England, in 1902, building the Westinghouse works and doing work for the English admiralty. They made quite a bit of fuss over our work at that time; the rapidity of the methods, the general efficiency, seemed to amaze them, and as a result it got to be embarrassing to pick up a paper. Well, I suppose that's why the Italians sent me the data about the River Tiber.

Passively Interested.

"It interested me, of course, but mostly in a historical and sentimental way. I never took any action. But I've been—what shall I say?—passively interested ever since.

"The idea that in that river bed may lodge wonderful statues of marble and bronze and busts and coins, as well as implements and weapons of all sorts, and that the Candelabrum of the Covenant that stood in the Tabernacle in King David's house may be resting there, covered over with the silt of centuries, makes one keen to help to dig them out or to encourage others to do so."

The quest for buried treasure is as old as the human race itself. Ever since the mythical expedition of the Argonauts in search of the Golden Fleece of Colchis, men have wandered all over the face of the earth in their search for the hidden wealth that is reputed to lie secure in many hiding places. Even in this day of cynical incredulity we hear, now and again, of the outfitting of a new expedition for the recovery of the pilfered gold that noted freebooters extracted from the holds of the Spanish galleons.

It is not remarkable, then, that even so hard-headed an individual as a prosperous New York contractor should be interested in the recovery of a treasure that will make the pirate spoils of Captain Kidd look, in comparison, like a handful of coppers. Nor is it strange that the kingdom of Italy should be willing to give its consent to a plan that will enrich its coffers as well as benefit its national capital, the city of Rome.

Rangers Learn How to Cook.

Men who are taking the Forest Rangers' course at the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, realize the bugbears of camp cookery to the uninitiated. As a result they have taken the opportunity offered them of spending four hours a week in the domestic science department, planning food combinations, learning the fundamentals of cookery and studying the market to know what and when to buy. Practice is given in the preparation of such foods as condensed milk, desiccated eggs, dried fruits and dehydrated vegetables.

A sample day's rations prepared by the forest rangers follows: Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cream of wheat, bacon, fried potatoes, toast and coffee. Dinner—Tomato soup, beefsteak, carrots, mashed potatoes, bread and butter and pumpkin pie. Supper—Creamed chipped beef, boiled potatoes, bread, butter, jam and tea.

A Spring Touch.

Mrs. Smart—George, dear, while you are having money troubles I ought to tell you that I learned today why your rival, Mr. Flubb's, credit has suddenly become so good.

Smart—Well, why? Mrs. Smart—I overheard some one remark that Flubb's finances must be all right, because his wife was wearing such elegant new hats and gowns.

SANDWICHES THAT ARE FINE

With a Little Preparation They May Be Made Choice Morsels Fit for Any Afternoon Tea.

An ingenious woman who prides herself on her sandwiches bakes the bread in round tin cans from which she has removed vegetables. When she wants an especially small and dainty sandwich she uses large-sized baking powder cans. The slices from the round loaves make dainty sandwiches.

To make perfumed butter sandwiches, both the bread and butter must be scented. The butter pats, wrapped in thin cheesecloth, or the thinnest of cotton, are put in a china bowl lined with blossoms of flowers. More blossoms are then heaped over the butter. Then the cover is put on securely, that it may be airtight, and the bowl is put in a cool place. The loaves of bread are also treated in the same fashion.

Take crisp new potatoes, slice evenly, and spread over them finely minced celery and mayonnaise dressing. Place this mixture between triangles of homemade bread.

Prepare a French dressing and dip into it slices of cucumber peeled. Lay these between slices of thin white bread, buttered. Prepare these sandwiches only a short while before they are to be eaten or they will become soggy.

A sweet pepper sandwich is a delicate bit to serve for luncheon, and is made by spreading between slices of bread a filling made of peppers and Neuchatel or cream cheese. Chop the peppers very fine and mix them with cheese and a few drops of olive oil or with a little rich sweet cream. Use in the proportion of one-third pepper to two-thirds cheese.

Use thin slices of wheat bread, buttered, cut in heart shape. Between each two slices place a layer of Neuchatel cheese mixed to a paste with equal quantities of cream and salad dressing, and cover with chopped olives.

Take the left-over bit of potato salad, add to it some minced cold boiled ham and spread it between slices of buttered bread.

Lettuce with a layer of horseradish on either side and placed on well buttered bread makes an excellent sandwich.

USE FOR FIRELESS COOKER

Breakfast May Be Prepared the Night Before and Enjoyed in the Morning.

Nobody appreciates better than the man or woman forced by circumstances to make an early start of mornings, the convenience and comfort of a fireless cooker. It is disheartening to most folks to go out in the morning—say at seven or even at six—and snatch breakfast en route. With the aid of a fireless cooker—a very small one will do—and a percolator, a breakfast may be enjoyed luxuriously in one's bathroom.

Oatmeal, brought to a simmer the night before and tucked cozily to bed in the fireless cooker, will emerge in the morning steaming and deliciously cooked. Coffee and water placed in the percolator before retiring need only the touch of match to alcohol wick during the morning process of dressing, to be ready, hot and steaming, when the oatmeal is placed on the table. Rolls and a bottle of cream, left by baker and milkman outside the door, will complete a breakfast—with perhaps an orange thrown in—that will sustain the average worker comfortably until the luncheon hour comes around.

Linen Closet.

Linen stored in a closet warm and poorly ventilated will become yellow and will crack earlier than if stored otherwise. The properly constructed linen closet should be in a cool, dry place. Each shelf should be covered with linen slips fastened up with drawing pins. Have the linen slips broad enough to fold back and cover the contents of the shelves. Old sheets may be used for this purpose.

Glazed Carrots With Peas.

Wash and scrape carrots, then cut in strips. There should be four cups. Cook in salted boiling water to cover fifteen minutes; drain and return to the saucepan with one-half cupful butter and one-half tablespoonful sugar. Cover and cook very slowly until tender. Add one can French peas, drained and cooked in boiling water ten minutes, then seasoned with butter, salt and pepper.

Separating Honey.

To obtain strained honey by separating the honey from the wax as it comes in the frame, place the frame in a bowl in the oven just warm enough to melt the honey and wax; then remove the frame and let the honey stand until cold, when the wax may be skimmed off the top without any trouble.

When Packing Linen.

When putting linen articles away for any length of time, to prevent them turning yellow, rinse until all the starch is removed, then dry and fold them away in blue paper. This also prevents the linen from cracking.

About Scrubbing Brushes.

When finished with your scrubbing brushes, if they are put to dry with the bristles downward, they will last twice as long. When turned the other way, the water soaks into the wood and rots the bristles.

"MOVIES" IN JAPAN

People of the Orient Very Fond of the Amusement.

First-Class Theaters Have Been Erected and Plays Are Produced With Every Possible Attention to Details.

Many of the motion picture theaters in Japan, particularly in Tokio, where there are over a hundred, are quite as elegant as some to be found in any American city. You can secure admission for as low as five cents up to as high as 50 cents. In the cheaper portions of most theaters, the natives sit cross-legged on the floor in characteristic Japanese fashion. They remove their shoes before entering and an attendant takes charge of these.

Both American and European pictures are shown, but the principal attraction is a long Japanese play, which is presented in a very unique fashion. In fact, it may be said that the Japanese have real talking pictures.

The film is produced in the same manner as a stage play, with every portion of dialogue spoken.

When the picture is projected an actor and actress stand on each side of the screen and repeat the dialogue in full view of the spectators. The two reciters share the parts played by the different characters. As their spoken words keep strict time with the lip movements of the silent artists, the result, as may be imagined, is very effective.—Exchange.

DUKE IN MOVING PICTURES

Titled Englishman Takes Part in Important Scene in "The Million-Dollar Mystery."

The duke of Manchester has gone into pictures. England's titled son appeared in a scene of "The Million-Dollar Mystery" at a studio a short time ago. It was the distinguished foreigner's first view of motion picture making. He likes it. Charles J. Hite, president of the company, escorted him through the studio. When the party arrived in the East building, where some of the "Mystery" scenes are being taken, Mr. Hite called Director Howell Hansel to one side and told him to put the duke into a scene. It was no sooner said than done. Almost before the Englishman realized what was happening, Director Hansel was posing him. The duke enjoyed it and laughingly told Mr. Hite to "crank the camera." The visitor proved such an adept that an actual scene was taken, showing him aiding Miss Florence La Badie, the heroine of the forthcoming serial, to escape from the machinations of the Countess Olga, Miss Marguerite Snow, and her band of conspirators.

Biblical Films Barred in Prussia.

There must be no biblical films in Prussia, according to a ruling of the highest administrative court of the kingdom. The Berlin police president had prohibited the production of a film which gave some scenes from the life and sufferings of Christ. The court sustained the action of the police on the ground that the Christian religion is a part of the public order which the police are bound to uphold. The court also held that such a film grossly wounds the sensibilities of religious people, particularly in view of the fact that it is given along with light and humorous productions.

Hazel Dawn in Big Production.

Miss Hazel Dawn of "The Pink Lady" and "The Little Cafe" has been engaged to play the chief role in "One of Our Girls." The comedy was written by Bronson Howard, and it abounds in patriotic situations involving the sacrifice of an American girl for her little French cousin.

Actor Has Written Winning Plays.

W. D. Taylor (Alvarez Taylor) has not confined himself exclusively to acting, for he is the author of several well-known vaudeville playlets, two of which he has played in himself. He recently put on one for a benefit in Santa Monica, Cal., "The Mills of the Gods," in which he was assisted by Anne Schaefer.

IS VALUED PET OF ACTRESS

Miss Mignon Anderson Proud Possessor of Small Simian Apparatus of Musical Turn of Mind.

Mignon Anderson, daredevil ingenue, owns a pet monkey that can play a piano. The little beast is a natural musician. Miss Anderson has appropriately named him "Mozart." When "Mozart" arrived at Miss Anderson's home he was exhibited to a group of her friends, perching himself easily on a piano bench. Miss Anderson sat beside "Mozart" and played and sang a little lullaby. To the amusement of everyone, "Mozart" showed an approciation of Miss Anderson's efforts, and tried to reach the keys to join in. He was restrained, but exhibited so much disappointment that Miss Anderson finally moved the piano bench so that "Mozart's" little fingers could ramble over the keys. Miss Anderson silently cautioned those present to remain perfectly quiet. They did. And to their astonishment, "Mozart" slowly but surely, and with a true sense of musical accuracy, played the opening strains of "This is the Life," whereupon all who heard declared he couldn't be a very nice monkey.

Farnum Saves Life of Lady.

Dustin Farnum, long a hero on the legitimate stage, enrolled himself as a real (also reel) hero at Escondido, Cal., when he saved the life of Winifred Kingston, his leading woman. Miss Kingston was participating in the making of the photoplay, "The Virginian," when she missed her footing and fell into a river at a point where the water ran to a depth of twelve feet. In the fall she struck her head against a piece of driftwood and was stunned. Farnum, who was only a few feet away, hastily cast off his coat and plunged into the water, swimming to shore with the actress upon his back.

A great crowd of onlookers had gathered to see the picture players at work, and wild cheers greeted the leading man's act of heroism. It is doubtful if Farnum ever received a bigger "hand" in all his career as a matinee idol.

Paragraph on Film Footage.

The vast extent of the motion picture industry may be surmised by the amount of Vitaphone film used. The weekly output of this company's plant is about ten reels, each reel averaging 1,000 feet in length. America uses about 60 copies of each picture, while the European Vitaphone plant, located in Paris, France, makes more than 250 copies of each picture. This Parisian plant supplies the entire world excepting the United States and Canada. Computation shows that in all more than three million feet of film is used weekly by this one concern. In one year it uses enough film to extend around the world.—Popular Electricity.

Radium Used in Motion Pictures.

The use of radium in motion pictures is a novel stunt and will be seen in Russell Smith's one reel detective drama, "The Stolen Reel," which Director Jack Adolf has completed. It is the second in a series of photoplays by Russell E. Smith, the first being "A Pair of Cuffs."

Edna Maison's New Role.

Edna Maison has started her starring career with a comedy drama, "The Transformation of Prudence." Miss Maison takes the part of a Quaker girl who enters society and effects a cure for her erratic husband. The production is being directed by George Stanley.

Actress Also Aviator.

To her numerous accomplishments Ruth Roland, "The Kalem Girl," has added that of knowing how to pilot an aeroplane. Miss Roland recently made a flight from the studio at Hollywood, Cal., to Los Angeles and return.

Daring Trip in Auto.

Miss Pauline Bush, leading woman, recently drove a six cylinder automobile to the top of Mount Wilson. Her experience will be shown in a new photo drama.

ELECTRICAL STREET CLEANER

Eighteen Battery-Driven Sprinkling and Scrubbing Machines Employed by City of Berlin.

The street cleaning department of Berlin, Germany, employs 18 battery-driven sprinkling and scrubbing machines. The total daily operating and maintenance cost is $4.41 each. The daily cost of each ten horse-drawn machine is $4.57. Each of the electrically driven machines cleans 55,496 square yards in the average eight-hour day, while each horse-drawn machine cleans 44,013 square yards. The former, therefore, accomplishes over 26 per cent more work at about four per cent less cost, or, in other words, are about thirty per cent more economical.

DON'T SUFFER WITH ITCHING

My, what relief!—The moment resinol ointment touches any itching skin, the itching stops and healing begins. With the aid of resinol soap, it quickly removes all trace of eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, pimples or other ugly, tormenting eruption, and leaves the skin clear and healthy. It is equally effective for sunburn, insect bites, sores, boils, burns, red, rough hands, dandruff and falling hair.

You need never hesitate to use resinol. It is a doctor's prescription that has been used by other physicians for the past 19 years in the treatment of most sorts of skin affections. Unlike many other remedies, it contains absolutely nothing that could injure the tenderest skin. Resinol ointment and resinol soap are sold by all druggists. Look out for worthless imitations.—Adv.

So Hot Ice Chest Blazes.

The freak trick of the season at Baltimore was occasioned when it was responsible for a fire that burned the top of a chest containing ice at the home of Harry Siegel, 326 North Front street.

Mr. Siegel placed two lighted candles on the chest. The high temperature caused these candles to melt until they bent completely over, the flames igniting the top of the box. There was a blaze and excitement prevailed for a few moments. No alarm was sounded. The fire was extinguished by members of the family.

FABLES IN SLANG

GEORGE ADE

The New Fable of the Galloping Pill-grim Who Tried to Sit Down by the Wayside.

A certain affluent Bachelor happened to be the only Grandson of a rugged Early Settler who wore a Coon-Skin Cap and drank Corn-Juice out of a Jug. Away back in the Days when every Poor Man had Bacon in the Smoke House, this Pioneer had been soaked in a Trade and found himself loaded up with a Swamp Subdivision in the Edge of Town.

Fifty years later the City had spread two miles beyond the Swamp and Grandson was submerged beneath so much Unearned Increment that he began to speak with what sounded to him like an English Accent and his Shirts were ordered from Paris.

On the 1st of every Month the Agents would crawl into the Presence of the Grandson of the mighty Muskrat Hunter and dump before him a Wagonload of Paper Money which had been snatched away from the struggling Shop-Keepers, who in turn, had wheeled it from the People who paid a Nickel apiece for Sunday Papers so as to look at the Pictures of the Decorations in the Supper Room at the Assembly Hall graced by the Presence of the aforesaid Bachelor whose Grandfather had lifted the original Catfish out of the Chicago River.

Then the Representative of the Old Family would take a Garden Rake and pattern all this hateful Currency into a neat mound, after which a milk-fed Secretary would run it out and disinfect it and sprinkle it with Lilac Water and tie it into artistic Packages, using Old Gold Ribbon.

After that, it was Hard Lines for the Bachelor, because he had to sit by a Window at the Club and dope out some new Way of getting all that Coin back into Circulation.

As a result of these Herculean Efforts to vaporize his Income, he found himself at the age of 40 afflicted with Social Gastritis. He had gorged himself with the Pleasures of this World until the sight of a Menu Card gave him the Willies and the mere mention of Musical Comedy would cause him to break down and Cry like a Child.

He had crossed the Atlantic so often that he no longer wished to sit at the Captain's Table. He had rolled them high at Monte Carlo and watched the Durbur at Delhi and taken Tea on the Terrace at Shephard's in Cairo and rickshaws through Japan and ridden the surf in Honolulu, while his Name was a Household Word among the Barmahs of the Ice Palace in London, otherwise known as the Savoy.

Occasionally he would return to his provincial Home to raise the Rents on the Shop-Keepers and give out an Interview criticizing the New School of Politicians for trifling with Vested Interests and seeking to disturb Existing conditions.

Any time his Rake-Off was reduced from $10 a Minute to $9.98 he would let out a Howl like a Prairie Wolf and call upon Mortimer, his Man, for Sympathy.

After Twenty Years of getting up at Twilight to throw aside the Pyjamas and take a Tub and ease himself into the Costume made famous by John Drew, the Routine of buying Golden Pheasants and Special Cuvee Vintages for almost-Ladies, preserved by Benzoin of Soda and other Chemical Mysteries, began to lose its Sharp Zest.

In other Words, he was All In. He was Track-Sore and Blase and sore as a Crab and full of Ongway. He had played the whole String and found there was nothing to it and now he was ready to retire to a Monastery and wear a Gunny-Sack Smoking Jacket and live on Spinach.

The Vanities of the Night-World had got on his nerves at last. Instead of sitting 8 Feet away from an Imported Orchestra at 2 A. M. and taunting his poor old Alimentary System with Sea Food, he began to prefer to take a 10-Grain Sleeping Powder and fall back in the Alfalfa.

About Noon the next Day he would come up for Air, and in order to kill the rest of the Day he would have to hunt up a Game of Auction Bridge with three or four other gouty old Mavericks.

When the Carbons begin to burn low in the sputtering Arc Lights along the Boulevard of Pleasure and the Night Wind cuts like a Chisel and the Reveler finds his bright crimson Brangian slowly dissolving itself into a Helva Headache, there is but one thing for a Wise Ike to do and that is to Chop on the Festivities and beat it to a Rest Cure.

That is just what the well-fixed Bachelor decided to do.

He resolved to Marry and get away from the Bright Lights and lie down somewhere in a quilted Dressing Gown and a pair of Soft Slippers and devote the remainder of his Life to a grand clean-up of the Works of Arnold Bennett.

He selected a well-seasoned Senorita who was still young enough to show to your Men Friends but old enough to cut out all the prevalent Mughsh about the Irish Drama and Norwegian Art and Buddhism and true Symbolism of Russian Dancing.

Best of all, she had a spotless Reputation, holding herself down to one Bronx at a Time and always going behind a Screen to do her Inhaling.

They were Married according to the new Ceremonies devised by the Ringling Brothers. As they rode away to their Future Home, the old Stager leaned back in the Limousine and said: "At last the Bird has Lit. I am going to put on the Simple Life for an Indefinite Run. I have played the Hoop-La Game to a Standstill, so it is me for a Haven of Rest."

As soon as they were safely in their own Apartments, the beautiful Bride began to do Flip Flops and screech for Joy.

"At last I have a License to cut loose!" she exclaimed. "For years I have hankered and honed to be Dead Game and back Excitement right off the Boards, but every time I pulled a Caper the stern-faced Mater would be at Elbow, saying: 'Nix on the Acrobatics or you'll lose your Number.' Now I'm a regular honest-to-goodness Married Woman and I don't recognize any Limit except the Sky-Line. I grabbed you because I knew you had been to all the Places that Keep Open and could frame up a new Jamboree every day in the Year. I'm going to plow an eight-foot Furrow across Europe and Dine forevermore at Swell Joints where famous Show Girls pass so close to your Table that you can almost reach out and Touch them. I'm going to Travel twelve months every Year and do all the Stunts known to the most imbecile Globe-Trotters."

A few Weeks after that, a Haggard Man with tattered Coat-Tails was seen going over the old familiar Jumps.

MORAL: Those who Marry to Escape something usually find Something Else.

Two inches of the severed tail of a dog was responsible for restoring El Japonis, a white bull pup, to his mistress, Margarita Valdespino of El Paso, Tex., recently. She was the plaintiff in a sequestration suit filed in Judge McClintock's court.

"Here's our evidence in the case, your honor," said the attorney representing the plaintiff, unwrapping a section of the tail of a dog and handing it to Judge McClintock.

"The court finds," said Judge McClintock, holding the severed member aloft, "that this is a part of a dog's tail. The question to be decided is what dog belongs to it."

"To El Japonis!" exclaimed the plaintiff.

In order to give him the appearance of a real thoroughbred two inches had been clipped from the animal's tail. The severed part had been preserved. Judge McClintock scratched his head.

"In order to decide this question," he said, "I believe we ought to see that the tail fits the dog." The attorney passed the judge the bull pup.

"It just fits," said the judge, applying the severed part of the tail to that which was left on the dog. "I hold that the plaintiff has produced conclusive proof as to ownership."

Took Gold for Her Nerves.

Pulverized gold as a remedy for shattered nerves figured at Kansas City in a suit for $7,500 damages against the Metropolitan by Miss Maud Wilson, a teacher in the George Baker Logan school. WORLD'S OLDEST BOOK

SOME FACTS CONCERNING PACK OF PLAYING CARDS.

Have Been Known as Far Back as History Reaches, and Their Significance Has Seldom Been Thoroughly Appreciated.

"The oldest book in the world," said the wise woman of the party of card players, indicating the pack of cards held in her hands. "Its leaves have been called playing cards since the fourteenth century, but they were known as far back as history reaches, by the Chinese, Persians and Egyptians, not to name the ancients of prehistoric times. A pack of cards said to be a thousand years old is preserved in the museum of the Royal Asiatic society."

"The women who play bridge all the morning and then all the afternoon, and after that go to bridge parties in the evening," said another of the party, "little think what ancient things they are playing with. But what was the purpose of this book in the time before it became a game?"

"The mystic book," answered the wise woman, "held the hidden wisdom of the ancient world. It was used by the priests in their temples when time was young. Call its origin Egyptian or what you will, it is full of astronomical symbolism, and the wisdom of numbers; such learning as men had of old was carefully concealed from the uninitiated. But to those who could read it the mystic test book was a veritable book of fate."

"The cards, for one thing, are all symbols of the astrological art. Each one is an emblem. It would tire you if I would attempt to go into the subject deeply. I can only glance along the top waves of the deep ocean. But notice a few particulars which lie upon the surface."

"The 52 emblems or pages of this book represent the 52 weeks in the year. The 12 court emblems are the 12 months, the 13 cards in each suit represent the sun and the 12 signs of the zodiac, the four suit figures the four seasons."

"Further—but this you can easily see—the heart is the emblem of spring and love, the trefoil or clover leaf—we call it club—of summer and knowledge, the diamond of autumn and wealth, and the acorn or spade, of winter, labor and death."

The pages of this book are in red and black. White was once used in place of red. These colors in the cards symbolize night and day, astrologically, and the lights and shades of life as applied to man."

"Look closely at the court cards and notice the emblems carried. These all survive from the ancient forms. The queens hold the lotus flower, supplemented in the case of the queen of spades by the distaff, emblem of industry, kept through all the long centuries. The king and queen of clubs bear symbols of wisdom, the king still plainly showing the winged globe."

"Each suit has its mystic symbolism, corresponding to the planets, in both suit and spots. Venus and Mercury rule hearts, Mars and the earth rule clubs, Jupiter and Neptune, diamonds; Saturn and Uranus, spades. But I am becoming too astronomical."

I must close this fascinating book."

"No, no," the others protested. "And what about the joker?"

"Oh, the joker is a modern invention. He does not count in any serious game of life or of cards. Yet there was in the days of old always a court jester, so this new card is not really out of place among queens and kings."

Fortunes in Lace.

Several millionaire families in New York possess immense fortunes in lace alone. The laces owned by the Astor family are valued at $300,000; those of the Vanderbilts at $500,000. It is said that the New York Four Hundred buy more lace than any collectors in the world. No fewer than twenty wealthy women may be mentioned who each own lace worth $50,000. Lace is the luxury of the rich. No ordinary middle-class collector can hope to possess anything but a few choice pieces, if lucky enough to be able to have those.

There are several fine collections amongst the English aristocracy. The priceless lace of the late Queen Victoria, worth at least $375,000, was chiefly left to H. R. H. Princess Henry of Battenberg. Queen Alexandra has a magnificent collection; years ago its value was said to be $250,000.

Living-Room Hints.

In the living room, where the family is wont to gather after the day's work, let there be a number of small tables, with a good light for each, so that everyone may have a chance to read or work in comfort, or lie stretched at ease on the couch, paper magazine in hand.

Let the living room be the subject of much thought, that it may have a very definite influence on the life of each member of your household. Plan, for a big room, if possible, at least a couple of couches and numberless easy chairs, says Mother's Magazine. Many a man who now spends his time at the club or the saloon would rather stay in his own home could he but have the chance to sit and read by a well-lighted table, where he could smoke in peace, with no fear of dropping ashes or leaving the odor of an unwelcome cigar behind.

FOR STRENGTH AND GRACE HAVE REGULAR MENDING DAY

Proper Training of Boy's Muscles is Something Worth Highest Degree of Consideration.

In the American Magazine Dr. Charles K. Taylor of Philadelphia writes an interesting and practically helpful article entitled "Your Boy and His Muscles," in which he gives suggestions as to proper exercises for young boys. Following is an extract from his article:

"First of all, when a child is in a poor condition of which the basic cause is some remediable physical defect there is little use in giving special exercises until the defect is removed. For instance, breathing exercises cannot be nearly as effective as they should be for a child suffering from large adenoids, nor can you expect good results when a child has some physical irritation inducing nervous effects of different kinds. Above all, you should always know the state of the child's heart. If the heart is good, and if there are no serious remediable defects to interfere with your obtaining good results, then you can take up the matter of special exercises with some degree of confidence."

"When you find just where your boy is lacking, whether in chest expansion, shoulder girth, arms, and so on, or perhaps in posture, if he is hollow-chested with shoulders bent forward, then you can take up the exercise suggested for the different needs. And right here is a word of caution, which will be repeated now and then. Never carry an exercise beyond the time when fatigue begins. Do not continue it to exhaustion; but when the boy begins to feel tired stop at once, if it is only after two or three motions!"

"It interests the boy a great deal, too, to keep account of his physical measurements. If these are taken once a month his interest is kept up, and he is stimulated when he finds that he is actually gaining. Finally, do not carry on a special exercise after it is no longer necessary. What you desire is a good, all-around development, and when this is attained special work should cease and general exercise be carefully continued. It should be said, too, that such work can never be considered as a substitute for outdoor play. This latter is vitally necessary for all children. These exercises are to be used as adjuncts—to bring up to standard any set of muscles which are under-developed."

To the Electors of the Fourth Supervisorial District of Santa Clara County:

Ladies, Gentlemen and Fellow Citizens:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Supervisor of the Fourth District, of Santa Clara County.

If honestly proposed and efficient service meet with your approbation I solicit your suffrage.

I propose to serve the whole people without prejudice to any individual or faction.

I will appoint efficient Road Masters, loyal to the tax payers, who will deliver constant service. I will permit no Road Master to hire one or more of his teams at road work to the exclusion of any other tax payer.

I am in favor of a method of treatment and control of the inmates of County Institutions that would make such institutions self-supporting.

I believe that the flood waters of the Almaden and the Guadalupe creeks should be, as far as practical, diverted into retaining reservoirs near the foothills for the percolation of flood waters into the subterranean channels, thus raising the water in our underground reservoirs.

I pledge myself to carry out the above purposes to the best of my ability and will not ignore my constituency in the expenditure of their funds.

Respectfully submitted,

A. E. NEWBY.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by
J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y.,
Editor of the New York State Grange
Review

LIVE WESTERN GRANGE.

Its Committee Establishes a Public Free Market.

In the discussions of the advantages of marketing direct to the consumer, in order to reduce the high cost of living and to give the farmer a little better price for his produce, only rarely do we find granges or other farmers' organizations that combine talk with action. In Washington state there is a Pomona grange that is different in this respect. At a meeting of that grange it was decided that something should be done about establishing a grange free market. A committee was appointed in the forenoon, and while the rest were eating their lunch, presumably, this committee went out and rented a vacant lot in the central part of the city and reported to the grange. On the following Saturday six farmers' teams appeared at that market place with loads of fresh garden stuff, eggs, butter, etc. They offered their goods for about 25 per cent less than the merchants were getting. For a long time the merchants tried to combat the farmers' market by reducing their prices for the market days. But this did not last long. The farmers kept at it, and when fall came they leased an old building in the center of the city, as the city would not build a suitable market building, and in it constructed seventeen stalls or booths, and this structure was by no means large enough. Another market will be established if it has not been already.

The scheme has been a notable success. Two market days a week were established, and there many housekeepers of the city go with their market baskets and replenish their larders, for about everything can there be found that is raised on the farm. There are hundreds of small cities where the same idea can be worked out just as successfully, and there are granges that can do it if only they go about it. It is a simple matter to solve this problem of eliminating the middleman, in numerous instances, when it is gone about in the right way. The only way to do some things is to do them.

A GOOD PROGRAM.

An Outline For Papers and Discussions on "The Soil."

First.—Romances of the soil, its history and what it means to man.

Second.—Plant food in the soil; what it is; how it becomes available; making it eatable for the plant. Warmth, sunshine, moisture, chemical action. What we mean by unlocking soil fertility.

Third.—How can available plant food in the soil be most cheaply provided for use of crop? Relative importance of tillage and fertilizers in making plant food available. Conserving moisture and humus and saving homemade manures from waste and loss.

Fourth.—To what are our different soils best adapted, and what, in view of markets, can be most profitably grown, and why?

Fifth.—Nature and treatment of our clays, sands and loams.

Sixth.—How should each be tilled in order to secure best crops and preserve and improve the fertility? When and how plowed and prepared for a crop. How treated while the crop grows. What are your most efficient and important tools for soil working?

Seventh.—Chemical, mechanical and bacterial agencies in the soil.

Pennsylvania Grange Notes.

Oxford grange is very much alive. It recently initiated a class of eighteen and purchased a building which will be converted into a grange home.

Lawsville grange, Susquehanna county, with 114 members, has an average attendance of 60 per cent. A good degree team is also a feature.

Little Beaver grange, located at Enon Valley, purchased a church building with over two acres of ground attached for $865, the alterations on each costing $50. The membership list includes 155, and everybody is much alive.

Hemlock grange, at Buck Run, Columbia county, reorganized last November with sixty members, has bought a lot, upon which it is erecting a two story hall with basement underneath.

W. F. Hill, a past master of the state grange, has announced his candidacy for senatorial nomination in the Blair-Huntington district.

At a meeting of the executive committee held in Harrisburg the committee after considering the places proposed for holding the next state grange meeting decided to hold it in the city of Meadville, Crawford county, at the regular time in December next. In connection with the Meadville meeting there will be a big exhibit of labor saving machinery and devices for the housekeepers.

North Ghent grange, Ulster, Pa., has a debating team composed of Miss Edna Farrel, Vera Struble and Ira Holcomb.

The Lockport (N. Y.) grange instituted a membership contest last year, offering a trip to Ithaca with expenses paid for farmers' week. During the year the membership was more than doubled. Lockport grange is only a two-year-old, but it has won first prize at the Niagara county fair both years of its entry.

THE present war which may develop into the greatest one the world has ever known will probably be the last. It is a most deplorable state of affairs which brings about a war in these enlightened times and it is hoped that it will be short and so decisive that war will be no more. President Wilson has offered every sort of peace arrangement to no effect and as the greatest neutral power United States may become the mediator. Our government is caring for the various diplomatic interests in the several warring countries and is in a position to hasten peace.

Business conditions are somewhat shaken because of the war but a readjustment of these conditions is being worked out and it is thought that altho prices may advance slightly, United States will leap to first place as a shipping nation and will ultimately profit by the foreign troubles.

At a recent conference of Probation Officers of the Juvenile Court in Los Angeles there was made the following recommendations:

"MAKE EVERY HOME A SOCIAL CENTER. OPEN RECREATION ROOMS WHERE THEY CAN BE PROPERLY SUPERVISED. PLAY WITH YOUR CHILDREN, AND YOU WILL NEVER FIND THEM IN THE PROBATION COURTS."

Men of broad views and far-seeing mental caliber are coming to the same viewpoint. Thomas Edison says "the problem of the age is PLAY." Very recently one of the leading cities of Ohio has added to its already wholesome list of games, in connection with its municipal play-grounds, for the use of her school children, that most beautiful and purely scientific of them all,—the game of billiards.

While some smaller and less progressive towns are legislating and restraining, the modern growing city is expanding by a constructive policy of provision and proper supervision of recreations for its young people.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Arthur Free, district attorney and candidate for renomination subject to the will of the voters, at the primaries, is a thoroughly Santa Clara product from birth up and a very good sample of those who make good. His political card appears elsewhere in these columns and he solicits your support.

A COUNTY OFFICIAL WITH A State-wide Reputation

County Surveyor J. G. McMillan, candidate for re-election at the August primaries, has a well established, state-wide reputation as an engineer, and not one merely confined to Santa Clara county. The following is from the July number of the Pacific Motor and American Motor News. After reviewing his professional record, it reads:

"Mr. McMillan is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. A vote for a man whose wide experience and enviable record means that California will reap the fruits of a long experience in road building, especially in the county which boasts of high-class construction in the form of modern roads and bridges."
